Derek Bell - All My Porsche Races

Derek Bell - All my Porsche races: by Derek Bell & Richard Heseltine - © Porter Press International

This book was just asking to be written. When celebrating the racing achievements of someone like Derek Bell, you have to cover his success behind the wheel of numerous Porsches. It is for this reason that this book was an inevitability. All in all, this is a very well researched and written work. The author, a well-known journalist and writer, has combined well with the racing driver, to produce a valuable and entertaining read. For its honesty, simplicity and quality of presentation, this is a useful book to have on your bookshelf. You can read our well-illustrated review here.

The first Porsche to win at Le Mans • Seven world championship sports car races during 1970-71

Porsche 917 - The autobiography of 917-023: by Ian Wagstaff - © Porter Press International

If there was one Porsche racing car that set the Stuttgart company on the road to motor sport stardom, then it must surely be the 1970 Le Mans winning Porsche 917. For many years, it had been the sole aim of Ferdinand Piëch to win Le Mans, and one can easily chart the company's route to the stop step of the podium right from the early 1960s. He achieved this goal in 1970 when Porsche 917-023, driven by Hans Herrmann and Richard Attwood, crossed the line to take the chequered flag. This magnificent book tells the story of that Porsche 917 which, in the familiar red and white livery of the Porsche Salzburg team, is today perhaps better known than it was back in the day.
